WELL KNOWN MAN KILLED BY TRAIN LAST EVENING

Charleroi Italian Steps from Path Onto Wrong
Track

MED HALF HOUR LATER

Walking along the tracks in deep thought, and hearing a passenger train pass back of him, Thomas Carbril, a well known Italian of Charleroi, stepped from the path where he was walking, directly in front of the engine and was hit, dying a half hour later from the effects of his injuries, without regaining consciousness. The man was thrown a distance of some 10 or 15 feet.

The accident happened near the place where the Speers-Charleroi road crosses the P. R. R. tracks, at about 10 o'clock. The train which hit Carbril was No. 168, south bound, in Charleroi at 6:07.

On account of a light wreck at Dunry on the south bound track, the train was transferred to the north bound track at Charleroi. Carbril was on the south bound track as he was walking along, and hearing the train approaching stepped over onto the north bound track. Despite the shifting of the engine, he did not try to make sure he was in the right path and before the train could be slowed down, was upon a man. He was tossed aside and the train was stopped. Carbril's body was picked up and in charge of P. R. Detective Chalfant was returned to Charleroi, the train backing down the body. Dr. Faddis was called and rendered all possible medical aid without any good result. The body was taken to a local undertaker. An inquest will be held later.

Carbril is a man between 45 and 50 years of age, and unmarried. He is one of the best known Italians in Charleroi, being well educated. A miner out of a job, he was at the time of the fatal accident on his way to a job to secure work in the mine at that place. Carbril was a member of Charleroi Lodge 1030, I. O. O. F. An order will have charge of the funeral.

CAPT. KLEIN IS VERY INDIGNANT

Captain John F. Klein, owner of the steamer Island Queen, was highly indignant yesterday, over the wild rumor started Tuesday night that the boat had sunk with 1,400 souls on board. The rumor threw all the fun on the Monongahela river into a panic. The boat was carrying an excursion of a dancing school.

Captain Klein was most emphatic in his denunciation of the cowardly and malicious rumor and in his refusal to consider that it was a joke.

He charges that the rumor was started maliciously by parties that had favored to charter his boat, but were refused.

Captain Klein announces a liberal reward for information that will lead to the detection of the perpetrator. He says prosecution will immediately follow.

Dr. J. K. Smith has purchased a white Buick roadster through the agency of A. D. Spencer. The car is the first of the kind in Charleroi.

MONACK BROS. SAFE CRACKED BY BURGLARS

Sometime last night the safe of Monack Bros., wholesalers of McKean avenue was blown open by would be burglars. There was no money in the safe at the time and no valuable papers.

It is supposed entrance was made a little before three o'clock and operations continued until nearly four. The burglar secured admittance through the front office door. The outer door was open but the inside was securely locked. After boring a small hole, nitro-glycerine was inserted and a fuse lighted. Owing to the small quantity of the explosive used there was little sound made, not enough to waken the neighboring residents. The door was blown off, however. All the drawers were removed and the burglars going through the rear door to the railroad where they secured a secluded position and emptied the contents, scattering the papers to the four winds. Nothing of value was found however as the money and valuables had been banked in the afternoon. The safe crackers are supposed to be inexperienced men at the business, as their tactics show.

Burglars entered and robbed the Restaurant at Eldora park last night, stealing cigars, tobies, candies and destroying everything on which they could lay their hands. After they had cleaned it out of everything they could carry, they destroyed the balance of the stock. Detectives from Charleroi and Monongahela are working on the case and it is hoped that before long the culprits will be captured.

SENTENCED TO TERM IN PENITENTIARY

John Marshinko and Andy Marshinko were sentenced to 2 years and 6 months in the penitentiary by Judge Umbel of Uniontown on a charge of robbing two cars on the Pennsylvania railroad at Keister Junction on June 1. Another man, John Kropick, who was convicted of receiving the stolen goods was not sentenced yesterday. The three were caught by P. R. R. Detectives Marker and Henderson.

SCOTTDALE TAKES THIRD CONTEST OF THE SERIES

By Playing Game at Ad Stages Win From Cherubs.

NINE HITS OFF MAC

Scottdale, June 11.—Charleroi lost the third game of the series yesterday to Scottdale by failing to properly connect with the ball at opportune times and by the locals playing the game at all stages, by steady, sure methods working their runners round the bases.

McLuvaine who pitched for the Cherubs allowed eight hits and gave two bases on balls, the latter developing into runs. Roper for Scottdale was hit freely but good fielding back of him kept the Celestials from scoring often.

Charleroi scored in the third. Elliott biffed the spheroid for one pillow, and swiped second. In a moment he took third when catcher Cadogan pegged the ball over McKenna's head, and dug home when Heinz swatted for one base. In the fifth McLuvaine singled, went second when Nally dropped one in front of the plate and trotted home when Capt. Cosgrove banged out a single.

McKenna drew a pass in the first, stole second and scored on James' single. James going to second on the play and scoring when Urban threw Washer's grounder to the blockers. A pie to Clybor and singles by Cadogan, Roper and Ferguson put two runs over in the second. In the sixth Conway singled, went to second on Smith's sacrifice and scored on Cadogan's single. Score:

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS VISIT AT MONONGAHELA

The county commissioners were in Monongahela yesterday where they met a number of citizens of that place, as well as those of Carroll, Nottingham and Somerset townships, relative to the improving of the Dry Run road and the old Monongahela and Washington pike. The meeting was held at the banking house of Alexander and Company. The delegations were informed by the commissioners that under the law no road work could be proceeded with until the money was provided. The commissioners some time ago advertised a sale of $100,000 worth of road bonds, but there were no bidders. A recent act of the legislature fixes the interest on the bonds at 4 per cent and subject to state tax which leaves only 3.60 net for the bond purchaser.

About a year ago the contract for the Dry Run road was let to the Fort Henry Construction company which later went into the hands of a receiver. The county still holds their bond for $12,000. The road was advertised and the contract was awarded to William E. Howley and Co. The estimated cost of the work is $38,000. The company is willing to proceed with the work and accept road bonds, but this proposition, under the law,

Dog Fight at California is Attended by Many Business Men

PRINCIPALS ARRESTED

Humane Agent Gelder was in California yesterday to investigate a bulldog fight which was alleged to have been held near that place Sunday, and succeeded in establishing evidence against two Italians, whom he arrested. At a trial before Squire Kerns both were fined $10 and costs. They plead guilty.

The two Italians were the promoters of the affair, each owning a dog. For weeks the affair has been quietly advertised among the business people, doctors and others along the river who it was thought would attend. As a result there was a large crowd assembled at the rendezvous, about a mile and a half back of Daisytown Sunday afternoon to witness the fight. Considerable money was put up, as the dogs were brought out and each picked his favorite. It is not known how long the fight was continued after the start, but is supposed to have been till one of the buildings was badly able to stand.

It was impossible for Mr. Gel to establish evidence against men who were said to be concerned yesterday. Another match was to have been held in a few weeks, but it will be stopped. Several other dogs were to have been entered then.

CATE ATTORNEYS ASK COURT TO GRANT NEW TRIAL

An application has been made to Judge E. E. Umbel by Attorneys Woola N. Carr and A. E. Jones for a new trial of William L. Cate, the felle Vernon man twice convicted of the murder of Policeman Tom Guss. The motion of a new trial is based upon two reasons set forth in the paper filed yesterday, but leave was granted to file additional reasons within ten days.

The first reason set forth is that the verdict is against the weight of the evidence and the second reason is that the court erred in refusing to affirm the defendant's seventh point which was that the jury could not bring in any verdict under the evidence greater than second degree murder.

ASK PERMISSION TO EXAMINE PATTERSON PLACE

Elizabeth, June 10.—Prepared to destroy the cabin and dig up the grounds of the Patterson home at Bellebridge, W. C. Bryce, a glass manufacturer of Elizabeth, has asked permission of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company to make a search of the stronghold of the alleged bandits for diamonds and jewelry stolen from his home several months ago. Chief George H. Waggoner, of Pittsburg, was notified this morning of Mr. Bryce's intentions and informed him that he would give all the assistance possible in the search.

Several valuable diamond rings and some jewelry and silver plate were taken by thieves, and Bryce is anxious to make a more thorough search of the cabin and grounds which have not yet yielded up any stolen booty.

"We have enough charges against John Patterson now to send him to the penitentiary for 150 years, if we can prove all of them, as we expect to do," the chief of the Pittsburg detectives declared this morning.

WORK SOON FOR MANY MORE MEN

Increasing mining operations are expected to be started in the Pittsburg district within a few days. The Pittsburg Coal company opened the McGovern mine near Washington yesterday, giving employment to several hundred men. Other mines of this company and of the Pittsburg, Buffalo company and the Pittsburg, Westmoreland company are starting up.

A contract calling for $6,290,803.50 worth of work on the Rondout siphon for the New York water supply was awarded to the T. A. Gillespie company, of Pittsburg, yesterday. The contracts call for its completion in 4 1-2 years.

Official notices were posted yesterday at the McKeesport plant of the American Sheet company to the effect that ten sheet and one bar mill that have been idle will be started next Monday. This will give employment to 400 men.

George Stablein is in Pittsburg today attending the funeral of a relative who died Tuesday.

QUESTION AS TO WHOM WILL TAKE CHARGE OF BODY

Local Undertaker Disputes
Right of Deputy
Coroner

IDENTIFICATION IS POINT

Five arrest were made last night as the culmination of a disagreement between two local undertakers, one deputy coroner, over who should take charge of the body of Thomas Carbril, who was killed on the railroad as per statement made in another column. The principals were M. T. Crowley of the firm of Correll and Crowley and Deputy Coroner V. E. Reeves, of the firm of Reeves and Reeves. The others arrested were J. L. Reeves, Walter Reeves and Harry Correll.

A statement of the facts as the Mail has been able to learn are that the man when injured was taken to the baggage room at the local P. R. R. station. He died in about a half hour. The railroad detective, J. R. Chalfant, in accordance with instructions previously issued from P. R. R. headquarters telephoned to the nearest deputy coroner, which was V. E. Reeves, to come and take charge of the body. Mr. Crowley appeared upon the scene with men claiming to be friends of the deceased, saying that he was instructed by them to take charge of the corpse, and prepare for burial. Mr. Reeves arrived and began arranging to take the body to his morgue when the former objected. The deputy coroner refused to consider his objection upon the ground that the dead man had not been identified as yet. Accordingly he took forthwith the corpse to his undertaking rooms, where identification could be made.

But a few minutes had elapsed before Crowley with his partner, Mr. Correll appeared at the deputy coroner's office and it is said demanded the body. Reeves refused and ordered him out of the room, to which, according to eye witnesses the former objected. He was told again, it is stated to get out, refused, and was knocked down by J. L. Reeves, a father of the deputy coroner. Upon arising to his feet the undertaker was unceremoniously pushed outside the door by V. E. Reeves and brother W. C. Mr. Correll, his partner who it is stated, became officious being relegated to the sidewalk.

A crowd collected and the five principals were arrested by Officer McElDowney. Each left a forfeit for his appearance tonight before Burgess Court.

The body was given to Correll and Crowley upon identification at a little after eight o'clock last evening.

Coroner Sipe was over at noon today to investigate the death of the man and if possible compromise matters between the two undertakers. He made a statement that Mr. Reeves was only discharging his duty when he took charge of the man's body, and did not have to give up the body at any time if he did not desire, unless the friends who identified the man, would pay all expenses connected with the funeral. He said the man belonged to an insurance company who will pay all.

Educating Miners.

H. H. Stock, a Scranton mining expert, believes that more should be done in the way of educating the miners in technicalities and dangers of their vocation. His idea is that short, elementary lectures should be prepared dealing with the principles of mining and that they be translated into the various languages. —Wilkes-Barre Record

If a lumberjack were taken from the woods and placed in the cab of the Pittsburgh "Flyer" and told to run the engine to Chicago, no greater risk would be taken with human lives than to permit a peasant from Southern Europe to enter a gaseous mine as a workman. In fact, the passengers on the train would have better chances of escaping with their lives than the men working in the mine.

In the making of a miner as in everything else practical experience, gained by a thorough apprenticeship, is necessary. What is needed to make coal mining reasonably safe is to have a system similar to that in Illinois, and that is every applicant serves two years apprenticeship under a practical miner. By that time he will have learned what the different appearances of the flames of his lamp mean; how to tell by "sounding" the roof whether it is safe or not; how and where to set a prop and the quantity of blasting powder necessary, the most essential things a miner should know which, when known and lived up to reduces mining accidents to the minimum.

It is true that in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania there is a law which says that an applicant for work as a miner must pass an examination before he can be employed, but it has been rendered a farce by Judge Wheaton and other judicial infirmities with which that region is afflicted.

For instance, it was shown beyond peradventure that these examiners made a common practice of selling the certificates to men who had never seen a mine. Some the examiners plead guilty to the charge, yet Wheaton re-appointed them. Such things do not happen under the Illinois system, as the applicant "must do the sun to prove it." How well that system works is shown by the fact that no serious accident has occurred there since its adoption, except that at the Leiter mine at Zeigler where the system is not in force. That of itself proves that it is practical knowledge, not lectures, that the working miner needs.

To mine officials a theoretic knowledge of the scientific principles of mining is absolutely necessary, so is a stern and uncompromising attitude in enforcing the laws of the State, and if all three—practice and principle and obedience to law obtained the world not be shocked at brief intervals by a mine horror.

Gossip Would Not Go.

The Observer attempts to evade the matter of its chronic libelling of Senator Penrose by saying:

"We wonder what the Mail would call it if we published what is generally known about him. Libelling Senator Penrose—it is to laugh."

That is precisely the assumption that other light weight dealers in libellous persiflage amused themselves with until they got on the witness stand, and then "generally known" because honest and when the demand for facts was made there was a tearful pleading for mercy, and a "baby act" finally performed. The lawyers who are stockholders in the Observer could and would quickly disabuse it of its hallucination if asked to do so, that it is not what Brown told Smith but what Smith actually knew is what would be admitted as evidence.

Still Doing Business.

The Washington Observer of Wednesday, contained the following headline: "Whole street terrorized by man with dirk. Blood-thirsty foreigner seeking neighbors lives, causing exciting time on Harding avenue."

Evidently the "Trolley" is up-to-date like a little red wagon and old Buff barking. "I have a bad colic, doctor."

Tremble, Republicans.

"Now, will you be good?" The Canonsburg Notes has also lifted up the Standard of Spite and is preparing to hurl its mighty thunder bolts at the poor, little, weak Republican party. Tremble, ye midgets. Sampson is aroused and his old weapon, the jaw-bone of an ass, will break matches and hurt them at you.

Standard of Spite.

It is stated by wireless that the gonorrhea of the Washington Observer will be a political sore-head rampant and a political sore-toe encephalitis with the "Trolley" gules and a drug-store in azure. "Ravanche" will be the Slogan. "On ye braves."

As To Merry Widows.

It is now hinted that was a Merry Widow connected with Cashier Montgomery's defalcations in the Allegheny National bank. When a woman gets an old chap like Montgomery in the right place something is bound to happen. —Waynesburg Messenger

It "sometimes most always happens the other way," also.

FOUND ITS SOUL.

The Story of a Violin That Was Wrecked in a Fire.

After the Lucky Baldwin theater and hotel fire in San Francisco years ago there were nine feet of water in the basement, where the instruments of the orchestra were stored. When a little of it had been pumped out, August Hinrichs, leader of the orchestra, hired a man to swim in and get out his famous Amati violin.

It was wrecked—water soaked, warped, twisted and broken up into sixty-eight pieces. The hot water had soaked out all the old glue, and every piece had fallen away from its neighbor. Besides a good many patches of wood put in when repairs had been done. To all appearance the thing was smashed beyond recall.

Nevertheless Herman Muller, a local violin repairer, who knew and loved the old fiddle, took it in hand. Twice he carefully joined the time darkened pieces of wood. Twice he decided that the Amati would not do.

So once more he soaked the sixty-eight bits of wood apart. Then he carefully modeled out of clay an arch such as he remembered that of the old Amati to have had and for nine weeks kept the bits of wood bound to it until they had gained the proper shape. Once more he put the bits of wood together. Then for five weeks more he patiently varnished and polished the more than 200 year old fiddle until it shone. Then Hinrichs once more drew his bow across the vibrating strings, and the violin spoke. It sang, wept, bubbled with life and joy.

The Amati had found its soul.—San Francisco Examiner.

MATTERS GO SLOW IN COURT YESTERDAY

Matters were slow in court yesterday. Two cases furnished work for both courts all day. Neither was finished. In Judge McIlwaine's court is being tried the case of Mrs. Lizzie B. Caldwell against John L. Cocksins, agent and guardian of Nancy Guthrie, deceased.

The proceeding is one to recover the face of a $3,000 note alleged to have been given by Miss Guthrie to the plaintiff. For a long time prior to her death Miss Guthrie made her home with Mrs. Caldwell. The deceased owned a small farm in Allegheny county and some property in South Canonsburg. By her will probated some weeks ago Miss Guthrie left her property nearly all to churches and charitable institutions. It is claimed that the note was given to the plaintiff for taking care of Miss Guthrie. When the defendant died, Mr. Cocksins, the guardian, was substituted. Attorneys John C. Bane, of Pittsburgh, and Norman E. Clark, of Washington, represent the plaintiff, and Braden and Campbell the defendant.

The defense is that Miss Guthrie was a weak minded person and not capable of transacting business when she gave the note in question.

The case of D. B. Forest against the Grand Opera House company, which has been on trial before Judge Taylor since noon Tuesday, was not yet finished when court adjourned yesterday at 4:30.

On Heaven.

"If I could be out of physical pain," said a lifelong invalid, "I would ask no other heaven." "If I could be in a place where I might know that my husband never could be killed on the train," cried one of the gentle "worriers" whose capacity for suffering is neither understood nor respected by the sanguine. "If I could take my children to a world where every time I hear a croupy cough my heart did not stand still with terror," urged another, "that would be heaven for me." The mulatto girl who burst into joyful tears at first sight of a marble bust of herself "because it was white" had a glimpse of her heaven before its time. "Heaven must be like any other form of happiness, only 'more so,'" said a thoughtful man. "And the conditions of happiness are three—a clean conscience, something to do and some one to love."—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps in Harper's Bazar.

They Go Together.

"Henry," said the young wife, who had taken up physical culture, "how do you think I am built?" "My dear," replied her husband fondly, "you are built like a watch."

"Thank you, Henry. And, Henry?" "Well."

"If I am built like a watch, don't you think I should have a few jewels?"

And then Henry frowned and said the man who compliments a woman is an idiot.

The Panhandle of Texas offers the very best inducements of the entire United States for the man who wishes to invest on a good farm as well as for the investor.

This land is unusually fine, it lies nice and level; no stumps or underbrush to clear up, but ready to grow at once; this land you can raise better crops of every kind with less labor than on farm land in Pennsylvania or West Virginia.

There is an abundance of rainfall during the crop-growing season; and they have the healthiest and most pleasant climate during the entire year of any place in the United States. Plenty of absolutely fresh water.

We are selling this land for $10 to $20 per acre, according to distance from railroads and towns; good homes; you can buy as many acres as you want and make as much or more than the cost of your land in the first year.

Send for our free illustrated booklet; you should invest in this proposition at once by going with us on our next excursion; now is your chance before the land is all sold. As thousands of Northern people have located there, and the prices of land are sure to more than double in the near future; we will pay your expense of making the trip if we have misrepresented the land.

Among the Exchanges

No finer specimen of the human race has visited United States in a long time than his eminence Cardinal Logue, of Ireland. His visit was marked as the Altoona Tribune fitly says by serene common sense and human qualities. And continuing it says:

Cardinal Logue, the Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, has returned to his home after an interested and careful study of the elements of our national life. He spoke modestly, as becomes a stranger, but he warned us that the home is the corner stone of the republic and intimated that we must return to the simple ways of the fathers if we would retain and increase our national greatness. He believes the founders of our nation were great men and that they were great because of the simplicity, the sincerity and the courage of their lives. He admires their domestic virtues and bids us imitate them.

It is good advice the distinguished Irish prelate gives us, and all the better because it is not tinged by the hopeless spirit of pessimism which has darkened the understanding of so many of our own public men. For the cardinal is not unmindful of the fact that the hearts of the rank and file of the people are still pure and that those who through the divorce courts and furnish the material for the social scandals which disgrace so many of the fashionable rich are the exceptions rather than the rule. The American home is still the foundation of purity and strength.

In speaking of the kindly and noble act of Mr. J. Denny O'Neil of McKeesport, in providing free picnics for children the McKeesport Times truthfully says:

The school children of McKeesport are fortunate in having generous friends among the business men. It is a gracious action on the part of J. D. O'Neil to give the thousands of youngsters a day of solid filled-to-the-brim fun each year after the long term's work is done. How well they appreciate it is testified by the eagerness with which they look forward to the outing and the crowds in which they turn out on the eventful day. Mr. O'Neil is open-handed in his generosity, and the matter of sparing expense apparently cuts little figure in his plans—the main consideration is to give the "kids" a big day of enjoyment as they are crowded into the time. And if the big-hearted business man finds his pocketbook considerably flattened when the bills are paid, doubtless he feels he has had an ample recompense in the pleasure the little folks have had as the result of his bounty.

Not is the generosity among the city's business men limited to one man. The pupils of St. Peter's parochial school also have their picnics in the persons of the members of the Magnet Furniture company. What Mr. O'Neil's kindness of heart does for the children of the public schools finds a counterpart in the annual outing tendered by the Magnet people for the children of St. Peter's school. They, too, are given a day's outing crowded with pleasure and nothing to pay. The delights of Olympia are free to all the children for one long, happy day.

The Connellsville Courier explodes many fallacies concerning the safety of National banks, by saying

It is true that some National and State banks fail, but it is invariably those whose funds have been juggled with by dishonest officials, and such dishonesty is rare because it carries with it severe penalties. The Pittsburgh bank officers have just begun terms of ten years each in the Western Penitentiary for this offense. The best years of their lives will be gone when they emerge from the gloomy wall of their prison. They will return to the world broken in health, in spirit and character, frightful example of the truth of the warning. "The way of the transgressor is hard."

For these reasons National bank failures are very rare. The recent discussion of the currency question developed the fact that they are less than one per cent. No other line of business discloses so few failures, or even approximates to it. The moral is obvious. The safest places in which to deposit money and to do banking are the National and State banks.

Little Damage Done.

A slight automobile accident occurred last evening at the corner of Fourth street and Washington avenue. Dr. Smith was out with his new roadster, and had stopped for a moment near the corner of Fourth street. Hidden from the view of S. W. Ross, as he drove up Fourth street in his Buick automobile, and the latter unable to stop quick enough, his machine came in contact with Dr. Smith's. But little damage was done.

OUR FIRST PRESIDENT.

The Average American Knows Very Little About Washington.

Born Feb. 22, 1732; died Dec. 14, 1799; fought Indians; time and place a little vague. Was he not with Braddock? Married a widow named Martha; was commander all through our Revolution; was our first president and had two terms; wrote a farewell address; knew Lafayette and Thomas Jefferson; crossed the Delaware at Trenton just before Christmas and surprised the Hessians; beat Cornwallis at Yorktown and was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

These are all public facts. What does the reader know of Washington the man? More than likely it will be as follows:

Cut down a cherry tree with a hatchet; owned up to having done so, saying, "Father, I cannot tell a lie;" threw a stone very far across some river; climbed up the side of the Natural bridge and cut his initials; worked hard at school; was steady; was very good all the time; and everybody looked up to him; of course very brave, of course very wise and a great patriot; was one of the greatest men in all history; was tall, strong; wore those knee breeches of colonial days and a wig; looked stern; would probably lecture you and tell you to be virtuous and you would be happy. Such, if I mistake not, is the reader's vision of Washington as a man—cold, austere, unemotional, without passions, grand, not merely greater than human, simply not human—at all—a sort of marble statue. A figure to prize, to be proud of as an American, a figure to revere, but not a character to love, to be drawn to, to feel any kinship with—in a word, immortal, yet not living.—Everybody's Magazine.

Educating Miners.

H. H. Stock, a Scranton mining expert, believes that more should be done in the way of educating the miners in technicalities and dangers of their vocation. His idea is that short, elementary courses should be prepared dealing with the principles of mining and that they be translated into the various languages.—Wilkes-Barre Record.

If a lumber-jack were taken from the woods and placed in the cab of the Pittsburgh "Flyer" and told to run the engine to Chicago, no greater risk would be taken with human lives than to permit a peasant from Southern Europe to enter a gaseous mine as a workman. In fact, the passengers on the train would have better chances of escaping with their lives than the men working in the mine.

In the making of a miner as in everything else practical experience, gained by a thorough apprenticeship, is necessary. What is needed to make coal mining reasonably safe is to have a system similar to that in Illinois, and that is every applicant serves two years apprenticeship under a practical miner. By that time he will have learned what the different appearances of the flames of his lamp mean; how to tell by "sounding" the roof whether it is safe or not; how and where to set a prop and the quantity of blasting powder necessary, the most essential things a miner should know which, when known and lived up to reduces mining accidents to the minimum.

It is true that in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania there is a law which says that an applicant for work as a miner must pass an examination before he can be employed, but it has been rendered a farce, by Judge Wheaton and other judicial infirmities with which that region is afflicted.

For instance, It was shown beyond peradventure that these examiners made a common practice of selling the certificates to men who had never seen a pick. Some of the examiners were appointed them. Such things do not happen under the Illinois system, as the applicant "must do the sum to prove it." How well that system works is shown by the fact that no serious accident has occurred there since its adoption, except that at the Leiter mine at Zeigler where the system is not in force. That of itself proves that it is practical knowledge, not lectures, that the working miner needs.

To mine officials a theoretic knowledge of the scientific principles of mining is absolutely necessary, so is a stern and uncompromising attitude in enforcing the laws of the State, and if all three—practice and principle and obedience to law obtained the world not be shocked at brief intervals by a mine horror.

Gossip Would Not Go.

The Observer attempts to evade the matter of its chronic libelling of Senator Penrose by saying:

We wonder what the Mail would call it if we published what is generally known about him. Libelling Senator Penrose—it is to laugh.

That is precisely the assumption of the Mail. It is generally known that bellows persiflage amused themselves with until they got on the witness stand, and then "generally known" because honest and when the demand for facts was made there was a fearful pleading for mercy, and a "baby act" being performed. The lawyers who are stockholders in the Observer could and would quickly disabuse it of its hallucination if asked to do so, that it is not what Brown told Smith but what Smith actually knew is what would be admitted as evidence.

Still Doing Business.

The Washington Observer of Wednesday, contained the following headline: "Whole street terrorized by man with dirk. Blood-thirsty foreigner seeking neighbors lives, causing exciting time on Harding avenue."

Evidently the "Trolley" is up-to-date like a little red wagon and old Bull barking. "I have a bad cold, doctor."

Tremble, Republicans.

"Now, will you be good?" The Canonsburg Notes has also lifted up the Standard of Spite and is preparing to hurl its mighty thunder bolts at the poor, little, weak Republican party. Tremble, ye miscreants. Sampson is aroused and his old weapon, the jaw-bone of an ass, will break matches and hurl them at you.

Standard of Spite.

It is stated by wireless that the governor of the Washington Go over will be a political sore-head rampant and a political sore-toe couchant with the "Trolley" gules and a drug-store in azure. "Ravanche" will be the slogan. "On ye braves."

As To Merry Widows.

It is now hinted that was a Merry Widow connected with Cashier Montgomery's defalcations in the Allegheny National bank. When a woman gets an old chap like Montgomery in the right place something is bound to happen.—Waynesburg Messenger.

It "sometimes most always happens the other way," also.

FOUND ITS SOUL.

The Story of a Violin That Was Wrecked in a Fire.

After the Lucky Baldwin theater and hotel fire in San Francisco years ago there were nine feet of water in the basement, where the instruments of the orchestra were stored. When a little of it had been pumped out, August Hinrichs, leader of the orchestra, hired a man to swim in and get out his famous Amati violin.

It was wrecked—water soaked, warped, twisted and broken up into sixty-eight pieces. The hot water had soaked out all the old glue, and every piece had fallen away from its neighbor. Besides a good many patches of wood put in when repairs had been done. To all appearance the thing was smashed beyond recall.

Nevertheless Herman Muller, a local violin repairer, who knew and loved the old fiddle, took it in hand. Twice he carefully joined the time darkened pieces of wood. Twice he decided that the Amati would not do.

So once more he soaked the sixty-eight bits of wood apart. Then he carefully modeled out of clay an arch such as he remembered that of the old Amati to have had and for nine weeks kept the bits of wood bound to it until they had gained the proper shape.

Once more he put the bits of wood together. Then for five weeks more he patiently varnished and polished the more than 200 year old fiddle until it shone. Then Hinrichs once more drew his bow across the vibrating strings, and the fiddle spoke. It sank, wept, bubbled with life and joy.

The Amati had found its soul.—San Francisco Examiner.

MATTERS GO SLOW IN COURT YESTERDAY

Matters were slow in court yesterday. Two cases furnished work for both courts all day. Neither was finished. In Judge McIlvaine's court is being tried the case of Mrs. Lizzie B. Caldwell against John L. Cocksins, agent and guardian of Nancy Guthrie, deceased.

The proceeding is one to recover the face of a $3,000 note alleged to have been given by Miss Guthrie to the plaintiff. For a long time prior to her death Miss Guthrie made her home with Mrs. Caldwell. The deceased owned a small farm in Allegheny county and some property in South Canonsburg. By her will she bequeathed some weeks ago Miss Guthrie left her property nearly all to churches and charitable institutions. It is claimed that the note was given to the plaintiff for taking care of Miss Guthrie. When the defendant died, Mr. Cocksins, the guardian, was substituted as defendant.

Pittsburg, and Norman E. Clark, of Washington, represent the plaintiff, and Braden and Campbell the defendant.

The defense is that Miss Guthrie was a weak minded person and not capable of transacting business when she gave the note in question.

The case of D. B. Forest against the Grand Opera House company, which has been on trial before Judge Taylor since noon Tuesday, was not yet finished when court adjourned yesterday at 4:30.

MONESSEN ATHLETE TO MEET TWO MEN

Ned Chernoff, the Monessen athlete, will meet Jack Bruce and Mickey Dugan in six round bouts at the Monessen opera house Saturday night. Bruce is said to be a very active man having recently knocked out Al. Martin in a bout at Ambridge. Ned is a game little fellow to go against two competitors the same evening.

Two good preliminaries have been arranged. Tickets are on sale at Light's drug store and the Annex pool parlor.

Notice to Teachers.

School Board of Fallowfield township, Washington county, Pa., will meet at Charleroi bank hall, July 11, 1908, at 1 o'clock sharp to elect 4 teachers for a term of 7 months. Wages $55 per month. School commences Aug. 31. All teachers must be present on day of election. At this meeting bids will be received for furnishing coal.

On Heaven.

"If I could be free of physical pain," said a life-long invalid, "I would ask no other heaven." "If I could be in a place where I might know that my husband never could be killed on the train," cried one of the gentle "weepers" whose capacity for suffering is neither understood nor respected by the sanguine. "If I could take my children to a world where every time I hear a croupy cough my heart did not stand still with terror," urged another, "that would be heaven for me." The malato girl who burst into joyful tears at first sight of a marble bust of herself "because it was white" had a glimpse of her heaven before its time. "Heaven must be like any other form of happiness, only 'more so,'" said a thoughtful man. "And the conditions of happiness are three—a clean conscience, something to do and some one to love."—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps in Harper's Bazar.

They Go Together.

"Henry," said the young wife, who had taken up physical culture, "how do you think I am built?" "My dear," replied her husband fondly, "you are built like a watch." "Thank you, Henry. And, Henry?" "Well." "If I am built like a watch, don't you think I should have a few jewels?" And then Henry frowned and said the man who compliments a woman is an idiot.

TEXAS

Our Next Excursion Leaves Pittsburg in the Evening of June 15, 1908.

The Panhandle of Texas offers the very best inducements of the entire United States for the man who wishes to locate on a good farm as well as for the investor.

This land is unusually fertile. It is nice and level; no stumps or underbrush to clear up, but ready to plow at once; on this land you can raise larger crops of every kind with less labor than on farm land in Pennsylvania or West Virginia.

There is an abundance of rainfall during the crop-growing season and they have the healthiest and most pleasant climate during the entire year of any place in the United States. Plenty of absolutely fresh water.

We are selling this land for $30 to $50 per acre, according to distance from railroads and towns; good terms; you can buy as many acres as you want and make as much or more than the cost of your land in the first year.

Send for our free illustrated booklet; you should investigate this proposition at once by going with us on our next excursion; now is your chance before the land is all sold, as thousands of Northern people have located there, and the prices of land are sure to be more than double in the near future; we will pay your expense of making the trip if we have misrepresented the land.

Among the Exchanges

No finer specimen of the human mind has visited Charleroi since the long time that his eminence Cardinal Logos, of Ireland, His visit was marked as the Altoona Tribune says by serene common sense and human qualities. And continuing it says:

Cardinal Logos, the Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, has returned to his home after an interested and careful study of the elements of our national life. He spoke modestly, as becomes a stranger, but he warned us that the home is the corner stone of the republic and intimated that we must return to the simple ways of the fathers if we would retain and increase our national greatness. He believes the founders of our nation were great men and that they were great because of the simplicity, the sincerity and the courage of their lives. He admires their domestic virtues and bids us imitate them.

It is good advice the distinguished Irish prelate gives us, and all the better because it is not tinged by the hopeless spirit of pessimism which has darkened the understanding of so many of our own public men. For the cardinal is not unmindful of the fact that the hearts of the rank and file of the people are still pure and that those who throng the divorce courts and furnish the material for the social scandals which disgrace so many of the fashionable rich are the exceptions rather than the rule. The American home is still the foundation of purity and strength.

In speaking of the kindly and noble act of Mr. J. Denny O'Neill of McKeesport, in providing free lunches for children the McKeesport Times truthfully says:

The school children of McKeesport are fortunate in having generous friends among the business men. It is a gracious action on the part of J. D. O'Neill to give the thousands of youngsters a day of solid food after their term work is done. How well they appreciate it is testified by the eagerness with which they look forward to the outing and the crowds in which they turn out on the eventful day. Mr. O'Neill is even-handed in his generosity, and the matter of soaring expense apparently does not figure in his plans—their big day of enjoyment is not crowded into the time. And the big-hearted business man finds his pocketbook a willing sacrifice when the bills are paid, because he feels he has but an ample recompense in the pleasure the little folks have had as the result of his generosity.

Not the generosity among the city's business men, but the one man. The pupils of St. Peter's parochial schools have their parties in the parlors of the members of the Magnet Furniture company. What Mr. O'Neill's kindness of heart does for the children of the public school is a contribution to the education rendered by the Magnet people for the children of St. Peter's school. They, too, are given a day's outing crowded with pleasure and nothing to pay. The delights of Olympia are free to all the children for one long, happy day.

The Connellsville Courier explodes many fallacies concerning the safety of National banks, by saying:

It is true that some National and State banks fail, but it is invariably those whose funds have been juggled with by dishonest officials, and such dishonesty is rare because it carries with it severe penalties. The Pittsburg bank officers have just begun terms of ten years each in the Western Penitentiary for this offense. The best years of their lives will be gone when they emerge from the gloomy wall of their prison. They will return to the world broken in health, in spirit and character, frightful example of the truth of the warning. "The way of the transgressor is hard."

For these reasons National bank failures are very rare. The recent discussion of the currency question developed the fact that they are less than one per cent. No other line of business discloses so few failures, or even approximates to it. The moral is obvious. The safest places in which to deposit money and to do banking are the National and State banks.

Little Damage Done.

A slight automobile accident occurred last evening at the corner of Fourth street and Washington avenue. Dr. Smith was out with his new roadster, and as he was about to turn near the corner of Fourth street, hidden from the view of S. W. Ross, as he drove up Fourth street in his Buick automobile, and the latter unable to stop quick enough, his machine came in contact with Dr. Smith's. But little damage was done.

Making More Than a Living
Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. interest paid in savings department.

WE SHORTEN OUR LIVES.

Human Beings Should Live at Least a Hundred Years.

Every man who dies before he is a hundred years old does so because he has neglected the laws of health. I believe the time will come when men will commonly live to be 150 years old. But to do this they must be born right and be taught matters of health with their A B C's.

A majority of the people of America lose about thirty years of life through not understanding or not following the demand of nature for regular and adequate exercise. Our systems of civilization have worked a vast improvement in production by training men to special lines of work. Thus they become wonderfully proficient. To see a man rattling up long columns of reading matter on a linotype machine is inspiring. To hear a lawyer clearly and incisively summing up a case fills one with admiration. To read a strong, forceful editorial affords pleasure at the thoughts so well expressed. To watch the violinist and listen to the sweet melodies he draws from the strings wafts our souls to higher realms. Yet the acquirement of each and all these abilities has robbed the trained or talented performers of something else. The linotype is wearing out his nerves in setting type at such a rapid pace; the oratory of the lawyer has been acquired at the expense of a dyspeptic stomach; the man who wins us with his facile pen carries the strength of the sturdy laborer shoveling in the street; the virtuoso would fain have the appetite of the performer on the big horn in the little street band.

In thus specializing each is apt to neglect the routine work for all the muscles that nature demands to keep up the physique. Had each of these performers or craftsmen done his stint of work on a farm, raising the food he consumed, he would have been less skilled in his vocation, but possessed of vastly better health. And all would live out not only their full seventy, but a round hundred or more of years. --Charles H. Cochrane in Metropolitan Magazine.

OUR FIRST PRESIDENT.

The Average American Knows Very Little About Washington.

Born Feb. 22, 1732; died Dec. 14, 1799; fought Indians; time and place a little vague. Was he not with Brad- dock? Married a widow named Mar- tha; was commander all through our Revolution; was our first president and had two terms; wrote a farewell ad- dress; knew Lafayette and Thomas Jefferson; crossed the Delaware at Trenton just before Christmas and surprised the Hessians; beat Cornwallis at Yorktown and was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

These are all public facts. What does the reader know of Washington the man? More than likely it will be as follows:

Cut down a cherry tree with a hatchet; owned up to having done so, saying, "Father, I cannot tell a lie;" threw a stone very far across some river; climbed up the side of the Natural bridge and cut his initials; worked hard at school; was steady; was very good all the time, and every- body looked up to him; of course very brave; of course very wise and a great patriot; was one of the greatest men in all history; was tall, strong; wore those knee breeches of colonial days and a wig; looked stern; would prob- ably lecture you and tell you to be vir- tuous and you would be happy. Such, if I mistake not, is the reader's vision of Washington as a man--cold, austere, unemotional, without passions, grand, not merely greater than human, sim- ply not human at all--a sort of marble statue. A figure to prize, to be proud of as an American, a figure to revere, but not a character to love, to be drawn to, to feel any kinship with--in a word, immortal, yet not living. --Everybody's Magazine.
